

The Million Father March Pledge for Fathers and Men

I understand that men are a necessary part of fixing the problems of education and safety in our communities. With this pledge, I resolve to be part of the solution in the following ways:

- I will take my children or a child to school, and I will be at a school on the first day to encourage all children to do their best every day at school.
- I am responsible for the education of my child.
- I will volunteer at my child's school three times this year.
- I will pick up my child's progress report or grade report when required.
- I will meet with my child's teachers at least two times this year and support them in educating my child.
- I will mentor my child or a child, and I will teach children the values of education and family as well as the value of life.
- I will get involved in the leadership of my local school as a Local School Council or PTA member.
- I will work with my child's mother or guardian to achieve the best academic and social outcomes for my child even if I do not live with my child.

Signature

Date

The Million Father March was founded by Phillip Jackson and Chicago-based, The Black Star Project, in 2004 to promote the importance of fathers in the education of their children beginning the first day of school.